MC ADOO WILL NOT ALLOW NAME TO GO BEFORE CONVENTION

AND ADMINISTRATION DEMOCRATS ARE AT SEA AS TO CANDIDACY TO SUPPORT

WOULD CENTER ON COX IF IT WERE NOT FOR BRYAN AND THE DRYS

(By United Press)

New York, June 18.—William G. McAdoo, who has been considered by party leaders as one of the principal candidates for the democratic presidential nomination, announced tonight he could not permit his name to go before the San Francisco convention. "This decision," he said, "is irrevocable, as the path of duty seems to me clear and unmistakable."

His decision was made known in a telegram to Jonett Shouse, democratic delegate at large from Kansas, who had telegraphed Mr. McAdoo that sentiment throughout the country was rapidly crystallizing in his favor, that his friends would like to have him permit his name to be presented to the convention, and that they were certain he could be nominated and elected.

Mr. McAdoo's telegram follows: "Your telegram of June 17 requires an explicit and immediate answer. I am profoundly grateful to you and my other generous friends, who with such spontaneity and selflessness, have without my solicitation advocated my nomination. To cause them disappointment distresses me deeply, but I am unable to reconsider the position I have consistently maintained, namely, that I would not seek the nomination for the presidency. I cannot therefore permit my name to go before the convention. This decision is irrevocable as the path of duty seems to me clear and unmistakable."

"The considerations which compelled me to resign as secretary of the treasury and director general of railroads after the armistice in 1918, in large measure still prevail. I must have a reasonable opportunity to rehabilitate my private affairs and to make that provision for my family, which in time of peace, is at once the sacred duty and the cherished desire of every right-thinking man. Having been out of office less than 18 months I have not yet been able to accomplish these objects. Moreover a presidential campaign imposed upon the candidate grave and unexpected responsibilities which I am unable to assume, and which I do not want my friends to assume."

Washington, June 19.—Administration democrats were leaving Washington for San Francisco today frankly in the dark as to whose candidacy to support, but with very definite plans for planks for the democratic platform.

The uncertainty as to candidates resulted from an announcement of McAdoo's decision not to allow his name to go before the convention.

That President Wilson might have to throw the administration strongly behind some candidate to avoid a long deadlock in the convention, was regarded as probable.

President Wilson's interview with the New York World supplied by his previous endorsement of the Virginia platform, left no uncertainty as to the policy the administration democrats will seek.

Democrats here declared Governor James Cox, of Ohio, with McAdoo's withdrawal would get the democratic nomination early, if it were not for the opposition of Wm. Jennings Bryan and other drys.

There was talk of an attempt to get Cox and Bryan together by having Cox declare for a law enforcement plank.

Will Get Many Votes

L. C. MARTIN

(Staff Correspondent—United Press.) San Francisco, June 19.—Democratic convention leaders here today were endeavoring to ascertain whether Wm. G. McAdoo's friends intend to put him

L. W. HENLEY

The huge task of seating delegates in the Republican national convention, looking out for the housing of the different delegates, distributing tickets to newspaper men and a thousand other duties fell to Secretary L. W. Henley of the convention committee.

In the nomination despite his refusal to allow his name to go before the convention.

Telegrams were dispatched to eastern headquarters of the democratic national committee asking whether McAdoo's nominating speech was to be withdrawn, and Dr. Burrell Jenkins, who is scheduled to make the speech, was asked whether he intends to go ahead with it.

Even if McAdoo is not placed in formal nomination, indications were that he would get many votes on early ballots.

League Plank Same as Virginia State Platform

San Francisco, June 19.—The league of nations plank in the democratic party platform will be substantially the same as the league plank in the platform of the Virginia state delegates drafted by Senator Carter Glass, Chairman Homer Cummings, a democratic national committeeman, said today. Cummings declared that President Wilson would not oppose interpretation reservations which would not change the sense of the league covenant.

He would not discuss a Wilson third term rumor or McAdoo's refusal to let his name go before the convention.

MILWAUKEE COAST TRAIN, OLYMPIAN, RUNS OFF TRACK

Aberdeen, S. D., June 19.—Train number sixteen, eastbound over the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad known as the Olympian, was wrecked near Wautauga, west of here last night.

Eleven coaches left the rails and remained upright, except the mail and baggage cars which were overturned. Passengers in the day coaches suffered minor bruises when they were thrown about the cars. No serious injuries have been reported.

HARDING WILL CONFERENCE WITH PARTY LEADERS MONDAY

WHEN THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN WILL GET ITS REAL START

RAYMOND CLAPPER

(United Press Staff Correspondent) Washington, June 19.—The presidential campaign of Warren G. Harding will get its real start here Monday when the republican nominee confers with party leaders.

Harding has seen mostly senators to date and in these conferences has collected considerable material for his speech formally accepting the nomination.

The meeting Monday with Will Hays, national republican chairman, and other members of the republican committee, will help Harding organize his material and arrange details of the formal notification speech.

ORGANIZED LABOR ARMED FOR FIGHT

WILL MAKE AGGRESSIVE EFFORT TO TRANSLATE THEIR PROGRAM INTO ACTION

RALPH COUCH

(United Press Staff Correspondent.) Montreal, June 19.—Organized labor of the United States is armed for an aggressive year in the world of politics, economy and industries as a result of the program framed at the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor scheduled to adjourn a two weeks' session here late today.

Directed by the veteran skill of President Samuel Gompers who was re-elected for the thirty-eighth time, members of the federation's executive council planned after adjournment to rush back to headquarters at Washington to begin translating the program into action.

The program is embodied in a series of resolutions and reports adopted by the 556 delegates. Through the program four million organized workers are ready to sound these demands:

To employers—Autocracy in industry will not be tolerated.

Abandon the fight to establish an open shop.

The right to strike must never be denied.

GEN. LEJUNE APPOINTED MAJOR GENERAL COMMANDANT OF MARINES

(By United Press)

Washington, June 19.—Secretary of the navy, Daniels, announced that he had appointed Major General John A. Lejune to command the second division of Marines and Infantry in the war as Major General Commandant of the marine corps to succeed General Barnett.

DUKE OF THE ABRUZZI

Arctic exploration and shooting the savage polar bear have no allurements at present for the duke of the Abruzzi, who is now engaged in the equally scientific if less hazardous task of investigating the commercial and agricultural possibilities of the Benadir Colony, East Africa, with a view to making it a source of income for Italy, and even eventually rendering that country independent of other nations for her supplies of cotton and cereals.

STATE TROOPS ARE PATROLLING DULUTH

WITH MACHINE GUNS IN FEAR OF ANOTHER OUTBREAK—SHERIFF SAYS MOB FORMING

(By United Press)

Duluth, Minn., June 19.—State troops here with machine guns and bayoneted rifles were patrolling Duluth again today in preparation for another outbreak of the mob rule. Sheriff Lon Magie declared he had information that a mob was forming last night to march on the jail where fourteen negroes are held on charges of assaulting a seventeen year old white girl last Monday. On Tuesday night a mob of more than five thousand wrecked the police station and hanged three of the negroes.

Adj. Gen. Rhinow brought a machine gun company and infantrymen to Duluth on a special train early this morning from Fort Snelling.

Members of the Duluth tank corps were on duty today prepared for any emergency. Two companies of infantry that had been brought early in the week, returned to Fort Snelling Thursday.

A special grand jury is now investigating the lynching and the conduct of the police and the assault case.

Duluth, June 19.—Sheriff Magie today said he had definite information that a mob tonight will attempt to remove the fourteen negroes now held in the county jail for the assault of the white girl Monday night. A machine gun corps and infantry company arrived from Fort Snelling and are now quartered in the Armory prepared for action.

Three negroes were taken from the police station by a mob Tuesday night and hanged.

Magie said he feared the mob would form again this afternoon when shops and factories close and declared he expected trouble.

Machine guns are guarding the county jail he said, and he indicated the guards will be instructed to shoot to kill should an attempt be made to storm the jail. When the mob wrecked the station last Tuesday night police officials had been instructed not to shoot.

A report was current last night that an attempt will be made to take the negroes from the jail, and Magie at once called for troops. National Guards who had been sent here Tuesday night returned to Fort Snelling Thursday. Two new detachments boarded a special train at St. Paul last night and arrived here this morning ready for action.

County Attorney Warren E. Greene let the special grand jury rest today. No witnesses will be called until Monday. An attempt to secure indictments against leaders of the mob that lynched three negroes Tuesday night, will be made.

Greene said charges against fourteen negroes still held in connection with the assault on the young white girl, would be presented to the grand jury next week after investigation of the lynching is completed.

Charges of neglect against the police officials who failed to thwart the mob will be taken before the grand jury before it retires.

FIGHT WILL BE MADE TO CHANGE TWO-THIRDS RULE

IN DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION, SO THAT NOMINATION MAY BE MADE BY A MAJORITY

HUGH BAILLIE

(United Press Staff Correspondent.) San Francisco, June 19.—A determined effort is being planned before the democratic national convention convenes to change the rule whereby two-thirds vote is necessary to nominate, it was learned today.

Chairman Homer Cummings and other national committee members opposed to the change, believe they can beat it. Wm. Jennings Bryan is expected to take a leading part in the fight for the change.

A rule making a majority vote sufficient to nominate, the same as in the republican convention, is wanted. The change was proposed at the last meeting of the committee. It was never considered. Now its proponents think if they can get it before the convention they can win.

A few individual delegates were straggling in today but no solid delegations are expected until next week. Several are enroute.

There is much interest among the few here in President Wilson's interview with the New York World in which he reiterated that the democratic convention should make the league of nations an issue. A few Bryanites were on the ground therefore little opposition was voiced.

POLICE SHOOT ONE ROBBER, CAPTURE ANOTHER IN IOWA

SAID TO BE THE THUGS WHO HAVE TERRORIZED PORTION OF STATE LATELY

(By United Press)

Marshalltown, Iowa, June 19.—The careers of Berry Tomlinson of Kellogg, Iowa, and Walter Labelle of Minneapolis, were ended today when Special Agent John T. Watt shot and killed Tomlinson and captured Labelle.

Tomlinson and Labelle were later identified as the robbers who have been terrorizing this section of the state, police said.

COLBY NOT EVEN A RECEPTIVE CANDIDATE

(By United Press)

Washington, June 19.—Secretary of State, Colby, said today he was not even a receptive candidate for the permanent chairmanship of the democratic national convention.

Despite this statement prominent democrats here said Colby might be chosen for the place.

MOB FORMED AT GARY, MINN.

RACE RIOT FEARED AND TROOPS RUSHED TO SCENE—EMBITTERED OVER ATTACK ON YOUNG GIRL

Duluth, June 19.—Deputy sheriffs were rushed to Gary, a suburb of Duluth, this afternoon when a mob formed there after the steel mills closed down. They feared a race riot. Troops were also sent to the suburb and trouble was expected.

Many negroes are employed in Gary and whites there were said to be embittered against the blacks. The lynching of three negroes after assault upon a young white girl early in the week added to the ill feeling.

A report that the girl had died last night brought the feeling to a high pitch.

There was some excitement in the downtown districts this afternoon when deputies and guards endeavored to break up small groups of men walking and talking on the streets.

Deputies denied the girl was dead, although they admitted she was in a serious condition. She was very low last night, a deputy said, but he understood she was better today.

Dr. David Graham, who is attending the girl, said positively that she was not dead and her condition "never was serious." He said she was not injured.

NATIONAL GUARD ENCAMPMENT CLOSES

St. Paul, June 19.—Minnesota national guardsmen after two weeks encampment at Fort Snelling reservation broke camp today and left for home.

Some of the units left early this morning. By night the camp is expected to be cleared.

All of the units received their pay before they broke camp.

PROTRACTED FIGHT EXPECTED AT THE DEM. CONVENTION

ONLY ONE-THIRD OF DELEGATES HAVE BEEN INSTRUCTED—PALMER LEADING

HOOVER WILL GET MICHIGAN'S 30 ON FIRST BALLOT, MORE THAN AS REPUBLICAN

HAROLD JACOBS

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

San Francisco, June 19.—A protracted battle over ballots in the democratic national convention to decide the presidential nominee, was forecast today by the widely scattered apportionment of delegates, on the initial ballot.

Of the 1,092 delegates only 390 had been instructed by state conventions or primaries. They were divided among all candidates and non-candidates as follows:

Attorney General Palmer, 104; Governor James Cox, 74; Herbert Hoover, 30; Secretary of Agriculture E. T. Meredith, 26; Senator Carter Glass, 24; Gov. Edward I. Edwards, 28; Senator Simmons, 24; Senator Robert Owen, 20; Senator Gilbert Hitchcock, 16; Homer Cummings, 14; James W. Gerard, 10; Wm. Jennings Bryan, 10; Wm. McAdoo, 10.

Herbert Hoover, a candidate for the republican presidential nomination, probably will get all of Michigan's thirty votes on the first ballot, more than he obtained at any time during the republican convention, by virtue of having carried the presidential primaries in that state before he repudiated the democratic party.

Wm. F. Connolly, national committeeman, has since confirmed the fact that Michigan has the first vote for Hoover. Palmer's lead in instructed delegates was a threat because of the contest fight by Tom Watson and Georgia's twenty-eight delegates—the only democratic fight to date.

Owing to the two-thirds rule in the democratic convention 728 votes are necessary for a choice.

Another thing regarded as indicative of a long session, was the fact that sentiment had failed to crystallize about candidates sufficient to give delegates a rally point.

HARDING WILL REMAIN IN WASHINGTON

UNTIL JULY WHEN HE WILL GO HOME TO RECEIVE FORMAL NOTIFICATION

RAYMOND CLAPPER

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, June 19.—Senator Warren G. Harding today announced he would stay in Washington until next July when he goes to Marion, O., for the ceremony connected with the formal acceptance of the republican presidential nomination.

He will continue conferences with republican leaders, outlining the campaign.

Monday he will confer with Will Hays, national republican chairman, and a committee of five republican leaders chosen at the Chicago convention. Another conference will be held with former Senator Albert Beveridge of Indiana, and Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr. One of the results of Monday's conference is expected to be an announcement that the Harding campaign will be in the hands of a committee of republican leaders. Will Hays will head this campaign committee and will receive the cooperation of its members.

SEARCH FOR MURDERER OF TURFMAN HALTED

(By United Press)

New York, June 19.—The search for the murderer of Joseph Elwell, wealthy turfman, halted today while officials and detectives connected with the case held an extended consultation in the office of District Attorney Swann.

Admission that no evidence sufficient to cause the holding of any one, was made by Swann.

At every turn investigation revealed men and women who might have borne a dislike to Elwell.

STUDY COURSES FOR ARMY MEN

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND SOLDIERS ARE NOW ENROLLED IN THE 2,500 CLASSES.

INDUSTRIAL TRAINING GIVEN

Enlisted Men Have the Opportunity to Obtain a Thorough Practical Education While They Are in Camp or Post.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.

Washington.—More than 100 different courses of study are now available to enlisted men in the United States army, and 2,500 classes are being held in these courses, with approximately 100,000 soldiers enrolled. The number of subjects taught in the different camps varies from ten to forty, and the courses are different at posts, camps and stations throughout the United States and in overseas detachments.

"All courses, manifestly, cannot be conducted at all posts and camps," said the secretary of war in speaking of the new activity, "but consistent with its facilities, every camp, post or station will offer the maximum possible choice in education or vocational education."

"Henceforth the young man who enters the United States army will be given a course of training which will be equivalent to an industrial school. When he has completed the years of his service as a soldier and returns to civil life he will return well qualified for a definite occupation."

"The army training will, however, be broader than merely to fit a man into industry. It will make a better citizen, a broader minded man in every way. It will bring to thoroughly practical industrial training the culture that can reasonably be combined therewith. It is proposed to make the army not only a military force to be trained and ready in time of national emergency, but to make it a great educational institution where young men with the best material, moral, and physical qualities, and with the highest ideals of patriotic citizenship will be produced."

Camp Meade School an Example.

An example of the army work in education is found at Camp Meade near this city. Soldiers entering the army school there have the advantage of study in five educational and vocational departments—English education, business and commerce, industrial science, technical science and professional training.

This school, like all others in the army, is equipped under the direction of the war department. All books and supplies are offered free, and all that is asked of a man entering on a course is that he be earnest and willing to work. While the schools are under the supervision of the army, the teaching personnel, buildings and equipment have been given to the camp by the Knights of Columbus, the Y. M. C. A. and the American Library association.

The courses of study have been selected with great care, as well as the teaching personnel. More than ever a man's advancement in the army depends upon what he actually knows, and it is with this end in view—the rapid promotion of men—that the schools are operating.

Under the department of English education men receive instruction in civil service preparation, English branches, modern languages, mathematics and journalism. The department of business and commerce covers clerical training, commercial education and typewriting and shorthand. Under the department of industrial science the student is trained in blacksmithing, carpentry, theatrical staging, plumbing and machine shop work. The department of technical science teaches drafting, motor transport, music, radio, telegraphy and applied electricity. The department of professional training includes chemistry, preliminary dentistry and pharmacy.

Must Attend After Signing.

It is optional with men to take one or more of the courses offered at the schools. But when a man has signed up with a class, attendance becomes a military duty.

Since the signing of the armistice, four motor transport schools, conducted by the motor transport corps, have been established and are now in operation at Camp Holabird, Baltimore; Camp Jessup, Atlanta; Camp Boyd, El Paso, Tex., and Camp Normoyle, San Antonio, Tex. These schools were established after several months of study by the officers of the corps and after it became apparent that the army was in need of men who had been thoroughly trained in the mechanical fields, and particularly in the automobile industry. Upon completing his course at one of the schools the soldier is given a certificate of proficiency and his standing upon graduation from the first course will qualify him to undergo further training of the same type.

By the method of progressive study adopted at these schools the soldier can finally graduate as a blacksmith or a general automobile expert. To have attained these ends he will have taken a complete course for motor assemblers, ignition and "trouble shooters" and a course in axle transmission and chassis.

Riselay had sent him out to this forsaken village of a past time to value a certain blooded horse, which was offered for sale. Riselay did not know much about horsemesh, but Riselay had plenty of money, and it occurred to him that it might be amusing to canteen occasionally around the park.

The straggling house on the hill, at which the town driver left him, presented to Billy upon first approach, a comfortable air of olden-time hospitality. It was a great shabby house, Billy found, but its lady mistress still practiced that old-time hospitality.

"The hotel is but a poor place," she told Billy graciously, "and it will be a pleasure for us to accommodate you in our own home."

Mr. Ritselay, it seemed, was known through mutual friends, and Billy, as Mr. Ritselay's representative, would be gladly entertained during his brief sojourn. The old lady's tone was so wistful as she made the suggestion that he fancied in it an eagerness for companionship. It was not until "tea-time" that he met the daughter, who was, Billy thought, "the sweetest girl that he had ever seen." But while her charm drew him her attitude of sadness held him aloof.

She was very silent, this blue-eyed girl. In her mother's presence one did see appear gay or light-hearted so witty and merry then that Billy wondered if this could be the same creature who walked sighing and unresponsive by his side through the garden.

For Billie's sojourn had not been brief as it was expected. On the first evening of his arrival he had telephoned Risley to the effect that the horse was not in a fair condition to be judged.

The animal was a beautiful one, un-

Her voice broke tremulously.

"You can't think how one can get to love a horse," she cried, "when the faithful animal is one's only companion. We've both been fretting over our parting, haven't we Starlight Good-bye," she told Billy abruptly, and put out her hand bravely smiling.

Over Billie's face swept a wave of joyful understanding.

"So that's been the trouble," he exclaimed. "Well, I'm going to take you horse to Riselây, but he will be min soon. Old Riselây will give me any thing that I want, for a wedding present."

"Our wedding present, I should have said," Billy explained boldly.

THE STEEL BAROMETER

Pessimists who croak prophecies of a "panic" or a serious slump in business may do well to consider the steel industry, accepted as the barometer of business conditions generally. The United States Steel Corporation reports that it has on its books at the present time about 20,000,000 tons of unfilled orders. That is the largest volume of orders the Steel Trust ever had at one time except in July 1917, when it was overwhelmed with war orders. The total is mounting up right along; it increased nearly 600,000 tons last month. If not one new order were received, the Steel Trust would be kept busy for a year or more filling these orders. The independent steel companies are said to be in a similar situation.

A market that is ordering steel in vast and increasing quantities is not a panic market, not a depressed market. The depression so often mentioned seems to be a superficial fear not based on solid facts. The nation wants steel, the basic commodity, and wants other commodities of all kinds, in bigger quantities than ever before, and will take years to get "fed up" with them. There is no over-production, and none in prospect—nothing but over-consumption, until that still distant time when the waste of the war shall have been fully made up.

Business has been handicapped lately by transportation difficulties, and in some lines by excessive prices. Improvement is being made. As the freight blockades are cleared, production will speed up, and with increased production will come a still greater volume of new orders. The market may sag temporarily, in this or that trade or section, largely as a protest against exorbitant prices and profits. The general, all-round national market does not sag, and will not, if manufacturers and dealers play fair with the public.

PAVING PROBLEM

The paving of Oak, Kindred and Kingwood streets is now largely up to the owners of property abutting on these streets. If a majority of these people can pay in advance for the improvement the council now believes that it can be successfully financed.

City Attorney Fullerton is now preparing the necessary forms as required by the city charter to be signed by those who have abutting property and the aldermen will circulate these at once. As soon as this is accomplished the council will take final action.

COMMUNICATION

Editor Dispatch:

I was much amused by "A Citizen's" article boosting for the re-election of the Third District commissioner. Listen, here is something rich: "During the time Mr. — has been commissioner, the county has made wonderful progress and the county is now in excellent financial condition." May I ask "A Citizen" which comparative new county has not made wonderful progress in the past twenty-four years? May I ask "A Citizen" if by using the word "now in excellent condition" he wants to say that financial condition of the county is better than ever before. If that be his purpose, then one of two things are certain, either he is woefully ignorant of the facts and is innocently mistaken, or second, he knows better and is using that kind of propaganda solely to deceive the taxpayers, and evidently being ashamed to stand sponsor for the article he hides his identity under the signature of "A Citizen."

Had Mr. Citizen cared to learn the facts, he could have gone to the official records and learned that never before in the history of the county were the taxpayers staggering under such a heavy burden of interest-bearing indebtedness. An "excellent financial condition," indeed!

The fact that our taxes are soaring by leaps and bounds with no relief in sight under the present regime, points out the fact that there must be a change in the personnel of the present legislative body of the county before we can hope for any relief.

WILLING TO HELP PAVING

Editor Dispatch:

Your editorial appearing in this morning's weekly appealing for funds necessary to permit Brainerd's paving project to proceed to completion, should appeal to every patriotic citizen that is in a position to help.

From a town of small frame buildings, Fifth street being the main business street, I have seen Brainerd grow, and progress and prosper until today we have a city that any citizen may well be proud of. From almost nothing, I have seen the agricultural interests of the county grow and develop and expand until today agriculture in Crow Wing county demands and is being accorded its place "in the sun."

Personally, I am proud of Brainerd and its record of progress and also take pride in the fact that I am a citizen of Crow Wing county, and am at all times ready to boost to the extent of my ability any necessary public improvement tending to making a better and bigger Brainerd, or a better and bigger Crow Wing county, for the interests of both are so closely interwoven that what affects one must necessarily affect the others. If I can help any by investing a thousand in gilt-edged Brainerd bonds, please put me down for a thousand.

it over the fence for a home run. Four runs scored off a pitcher on one pitched ball is hard to beat.

In 1910, at Portsmouth, O., a relief pitcher was put in with two men on bases. He pitched one ball, and the batsman hit into a triple play. Thus the twirler secured credit for pitching an entire inning when he only delivered a solitary heave.

MODERN NURSING IN MANY LANDS

AMERICA AND GREAT BRITAIN,
HOWEVER, ALONE HAVE DEVELOPED IT PROPERLY.

BIG CONVENTION IN ATLANTA

Nurses Who Have Rendered Valiant Service All Over the World Were in Attendance—Miss Noyes Talks of the Future.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.
Washington.—According to the American Red Cross, many countries throughout the world have established a system of modern nursing, but in no countries except the United States and Great Britain and its provinces, has the development been marked.

The extent to which the "gospel of service," the underlying principle of the nursing profession, is carried, was shown at the recent convention of nurses which was held at Atlanta. Nurses, leaders in their profession—nurses who went overseas to serve the wounded and dying American soldiers on the battlefields of France; nurses who rendered valiant service in the recent influenza epidemics; nurses who served in the camps—all were present. Canada, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, and even far-off Finland and China were represented in this great gathering, one of the largest ever held by these women whose lives are devoted to the cause of humanity.

"I have come to this convention," said the Baroness Mannerheim, president of the nursing association at Helsinki, Finland, and sister of the president of the newly-formed republic, "because it is my first opportunity to represent my country as a free nation at such a meeting."

Nurses From Foreign Lands.

Other foreign representatives were Miss Charlotte Munck of Copenhagen, Denmark, and Miss Jean Gunn of Canada. Miss Hermant of Holland, and Miss McCarthy of the British army were expected, but owing to transportation difficulties at the time did not arrive.

Miss Elizabeth Sze of Shanghai, China, was also present. Miss Sze has been in this country for over three years, studying at Johns Hopkins school of nursing, where she recently graduated. She will return shortly to help solve the nursing problem of her home in the far East.

Two Belgian nurses attending the convention were Misses Madeline Bansa of Liege, and Isabel Rany of Brussels. Miss Bansa was in Liege during the German invasion and began at once the nursing of her wounded countrymen. The outbreak of hostilities found Miss Rany in Dinant, where she was forced into the ambulance corps by the Germans when they overran the country. Both of these nurses later went to Brussels and cared for the sick, especially the children, during the entire period of the war.

So greatly has the demand for nurses increased that today there cannot be turned out from accredited training schools enough fully equipped nurses to fill all situations. "We should have 28,000 more nurses than we had a year ago, estimating 15,000 demobilized army nurses and about 13,000 graduating last year from the training schools as available for service," says Miss Clara D. Noyes, president of the American Nurses' association and national director of the department of nursing of the American Red Cross.

Many Leaving the Profession.

"What has become of them? From such information as can be secured, many seem to be leaving the profession entirely. Many enter the business field, which at present is offering lucrative positions and alluring possibilities. Many are establishing homes for themselves in the country or taking land grants. Other positions beguile many from the ranks of active workers. This exodus is a genuine cause for alarm; how to meet it is our problem.

"The nursing profession has become an important factor in the world's health, and it is inevitable that, for sometime to come, the demand will exceed the supply. The world looks to America for help in forming ideals and setting standards in this fundamental activity; and the people of the United States can do much to aid in keeping the priceless position gained by the nurses in the world's work. Thus, nurses from other countries who come to study our methods may go back to their own people across the seas with a real message of service, and with an intelligent knowledge of how to interpret this message effectively."

Miss Noyes, speaking further of the shortage of nurses, said there seems little use to urge young women to enter schools of nursing, if, because of conditions within, it becomes impossible for them to remain after they have entered. "Nurses alone cannot make good nurses," said she. "They cannot alone support or endow good schools. They need, as does every profession, the public back of them. They require the sympathetic understanding of the medical profession, they also require the support of an intelligent and educated public. At the same time they need to educate themselves to a wider comprehension of their own responsibilities toward the profession they represent, and to the public they serve."

BALK ASSISTED SLIM
SALLEE IN HOT GAME

Pitcher's Accident Actually Helped Him to Win.

When Runner Moved From Second to Third Centerfielder Roush Moved Back and Was Nicely Placed to Get Felsch's Fly.

Commenting on the incident of Harry Sallee's balk in the second world's series game one of the commentators makes some interesting conclusions, as follows:

"Sallee started to pitch and his foot hung in some manner, which caused him to lose his balance. He stumbled forward with the motion of pitching, but did not deliver the ball, which made a plain balk, and Umpire Billy Evans behind the plate ordered Weaver to stroll to third from his seat on second base.

"On the face of the returns Sallee had gotten himself into a tight corner, but the balk probably saved the day for him. When Weaver went to third Roush played 30 or 40 feet deeper in center for Felsch than he played when Slim Sallee.

Weaver was on second. The reason was that he knew he could not throw out Weaver at the plate on a single to center when Weaver was on third, but he had a chance to do so when Weaver was on second.

"Felsch hit a terrific line fly smack over Roush's head. Roush ran like a deer for the center field fence, and when about ten feet from there he turned, threw up his hands and grabbed the ball out of the air as it was sailing past his dome. He did not have an inch to spare in speed or distance, and if he had not been playing deeper with Weaver on third than he would have played with Weaver on second, he would never have made the catch. Weaver would have scored and Felsch would have had a two or three-base hit. A more interesting point never arose in a world's series game."

Chicago, June 19.—The U. S. railroad labor board expects to render a decision within the next three weeks granting railroad workers a permanent wage increase, according to the board members here today.

Daily sessions have been speeding up in a effort to make the decision permanent instead of granting a temporary advance as requested by the workers representatives.

Board members say if they can decide on a permanent wage increase within three weeks, they will make no temporary increase. Indications by board members were that they will give a substantial increase that would date back to May 1 of this year.

BASEBALL BUNTS

Pine River plays Pequot at Pequot Sunday. On June 13 Pequot lost to Backus 3 to 0.

Bemidji has secured two games for today and Sunday with the fast McIntosh nine. Like other clubs the Bemidji team needs the support of every citizen in Bemidji, says the Daily Pioneer, if they are to continue playing throughout the season. Business men have subscribed, but more money is needed.

It seems Little Falls' players are getting "bumped" whenever they try out with other teams. For instance the Speedwells hammered Taber, Berger and an infielder when the Little Falls men braced up Fort Ripley. At Verdale Thursday, in game between Wadena and Verdale, Little Falls men played with Verdale. Verdale lost 2 to 1. Tanner and Bessemer of Little Falls played with the losers. "Bess" poled one out for four sacks, making the only score for the losers. Most of the Crosby team and some players from St. Paul, were hired for the day by Wadena.

Pine River defeated Backus 12 to 11.

DIBELL IS A FRIEND OF LABOR

St. Paul, June 19.—"Workingmen of Minnesota are coming to the assistance of Judge Dibell, who is a candidate for renomination to the supreme court," said John J. Mullin today. Mr. Mullin is secretary of the Dibell Labor Union committee, and is a member of the Plumbers' Union of Duluth.

"Judge Dibell, in the case of Dusha A. Virginia and Rainy Lake company, laid down a very salutary rule of law for the protection of minors engaged in hazardous occupations when he held that the defense of contributory negligence or of assumption of risk is not open to an employer employing an infant about dangerous machinery in violation of statute," said Mr. Mullin.

"This is only one of the many decisions, declared Mr. Mullin, where Judge Dibell showed his appreciation of the tendency of the times and in which he upheld statutes in which the workers of the state are interested.

"I am confident," he continued, "that the labor union men of Minnesota will stand solidly behind Judge Dibell and give him an endorsement next Monday that will show him that we appreciate what he has done for us."

Shipstead is the endorser of the National Nonpartisan league state convention where it was decided to enter a slate of Nonpartisan league candidates on the republican ballot rather than as another independent party.

The democratic ballot carries the names of L. C. Hodgson, mayor of St. Paul; Julius Thomson, Edward Indrebus, Robert Hargadine, Oliver J. Quane, Alfred Jacques and Charles M. Andrist all candidates for the nomination for governor.

NATIONAL ART GALLERY DONE

GREAT BUILDING ON THE MALL
DONATED BY CHARLES FREER TO BE OPENED SOON.

WILL HOUSE HIS COLLECTION

Those of Harriet Lane Johnston, Ralph Johnson, W. T. Evans and Others are to be installed in its Nineteen Halls.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.

Washington.—The National Gallery of Art is to be opened this summer. The building that is to house the art treasures is about completed. It is on the Mall, or public park, in the neighborhood of the agricultural department buildings, the Smithsonian Institution and the National museum. It has a frontage of 228 feet, is 185 feet deep and is of pink granite structure. It consists of a single main story above a high basement. The money with which the building is being constructed was donated by Charles L. Freer of Detroit, who also donated a splendid collection of art works. This national art gallery will be a government institution in the same sense that the Smithsonian institution and the National museum are government institutions. This means that congress will provide for the running expenses. The committee on appropriations has just received notice to the effect that the new gallery will be opened this summer and is asked to make the proper appropriation.

There will be 19 exhibition halls of varying size in the art building, while the basement contains ample study rooms, storage space, and an auditorium and administrative offices. While the exact number of specimens in the Freer collection will not be known until delivered and installed they exceeded 6,000 in 1918. Of this number something over 1,000 were American and of these four-fifths were the work of Whistler.

Freer's Wonderful Gift.

Mr. Freer, who was one of Detroit's foremost citizens, in addition to giving his entire art collection to the government gave $2,000,000 for the erection of the building and bequeathed by his will an endowment of about $2,000,000, the income of which is to be used for the purchase of paintings and objects of sculpture and potteries of Oriental and American origin.

Persons who are particularly interested in the establishment of this, the first purely national art gallery, say that it would be difficult to estimate the artistic and educational value of a great national art collection such as this is to be. It is pointed out that it will be seen by hundreds of thousands of people from all parts of the country every year and also used by art students from all countries, and by designers and workers in the industrial arts. Its educational and practical value will be very great. It is pointed out, and it will serve as a stimulus to both large and small communities wherever there are people interested in the beautiful as well as the practical arts. It is estimated that the art collections that will be installed in the new gallery have a value of $3,800,000 as follows: Charles L. Freer collection, $2,000,000; Harriet Lane Johnston collection, $150,000; William T. Evans collection, $1,000,000; collection of French sketches, $25,000; Ralph Johnson collection, $500,000; ceramics, $25,000, and miscellaneous, $100,000. The building and contents will have a value of $6,500,000.

The Other Art Collections.

The art gallery will be under the direct supervision of the Smithsonian institution. The Smithsonian, since it was established in 1846, has been accumulating works of art which are at the present time displayed in the new National museum. These art treasures will be added to the collection of the new art gallery. The chief art collections owned by the Smithsonian institution are these: The Harriet Lane Johnston bequest, received in 1896, 27 objects in all; the William T. Evans collection, received through a series of donations from 1907 to 1915. This is regarded as one of the best collections of contemporary American paintings. It contains 150 paintings and one fire etching, representing 106 American artists besides one bronze by an American sculptor and 115 samples of the work of 16 of the foremost American wood engravers.

The Ralph Johnson collection was a gift to the gallery in May, 1919. It is regarded as a wonderful group of masterpieces—one which would now be very difficult as well as very costly to assemble. There are 24 paintings from the brushes of 19 of Europe's foremost masters. Mr. Johnson was 20 years collecting these paintings. Each was acquired not merely as the work of a famous painter but on account of intrinsic interest and merit. The bequest of Mary Houston Eddy comprises 22 paintings among which are rare miniatures, and 118 other articles of interest. A number of art works inherited from the National institute, the predecessor of the Smithsonian institution are also to be installed in the new art building. In addition to the collections here mentioned there are upward of 90 minor collections, mainly paintings and sculpture, among which are many items of great value, which will go into the new building.

DESERT IN BLOOM

Irrigation Makes Garden Spot of Death Valley.

Furnace Creek Ranch, in Eastern California, Probably the Most Isolated Farm in the World—Many Feet Below Sea Level.

Probably the most isolated farm in the world is situated in a certain spot in eastern California, near the bottom of the United States, where some mining men have fitted out a ranch of some 65 acres. The place is known as Furnace Creek ranch, and it has been made possible by irrigation, the water being piped from springs in the Funeral mountains.

Edward Hogg, in describing the ranch, says that it "is situated 178 feet below sea level on the floor of the greatest depression on the face of the western hemisphere, within pistol shot of and only about 100 feet higher than the greatest depth of Death valley. Yet, in spite of its peculiar location, the ranch is within the shadow of Mount Whitney, whose eternal snows tower into the heavens to a height of nearly three miles, the highest point of land in the continental limits of the nation.

"Furthermore, Furnace Creek ranch is probably the only farm in the world where weeds are unknown. As it is entirely artificial and surrounded by a desert barrier, the seeds of noxious weeds have had no way of getting there, and unless they be imported by man, the ranch will undoubtedly always remain free from them.

"Obviously the introduction of an abundant water supply was the prime requisite to make the ranch possible. This is obtained from two large springs far back in the Funeral mountains, which pour their streams upon the burned-out Death valley soil through two great aqueducts, one of steel and one of masonry. Part of the water is diverted along the route to freshen a heavy growth of willows planted to give shade to the water-course. But in spite of this, the loss of water from evaporation is very great, and in summer the water emerges from the aqueduct at temperatures up to 110 degrees. Men and live stock, of course, cannot drink it so hot. Cooling is therefore effected by means of large evaporating 'tanks,' and the drinking water is quickly reduced to 70 degrees in the hottest weather.

"The humidity of Death valley's atmosphere varies like that of other places, but according to analyses made by the United States weather bureau, its air is the driest known. Its average moisture content is less than .01 per cent. Water thus becomes as volatile as gasoline and evaporating cooling is accomplished with great rapidity. It is this speedy evaporation that has largely made Furnace Creek ranch possible. The ranch is primarily a hay farm, the principal crop being alfalfa, which is fed to cattle and hogs. After being dressed, the meat is sent to mining camps. The live stock could not live through the scorching summer if it were not for the cooling influence of shower baths with which their corrals are equipped. The cattle, horses and mules are further protected from the blistering winds by having the sides of their pens covered with sheet metal.

"White men cannot live long in the withering heat. Consequently all the work about the ranch is done by Indians of the Plute and Shoshone tribes, under the direction of an educated foreman. The average life of a white man in Death valley is very short. Three white foremen employed on the ranch lasted two summers each and perished during the third. Two others went insane and attempted to flee out of the valley on foot. Neither of them lived to get out of the maze of Funeral mountain canyons.

"The Stygian temperature of Death valley lasts for about five months of the year, usually from May 1 until October; the other months are cool and pleasant. Rain is virtually unknown. Consequently the irrigation of Funeral creek ranch is continuous."

A Week's Vacation for Twelve Dollars

With All the Trimmings in the Way of Sun-Burn, Appetites and Pep

COUNTRY AIR AND CAMP LIFE GIVES CITY GIRLS SO MUCH PEP THEY JUST HAVE TO BE DOING SOMETHING.

PRETTY GIRL CAMPERS ENJOYING A PICNIC ON A SECLUDED BEACH

A TYPICAL Y. W. C. A. CAMP. EVERY BODY HAPPY, EVERY BODY GLAD.

By Margaret C. Weddell

Would you guess that a girl could spend a week in a woody place, swimming when she liked it, canoeing if she knew how, bacon-batting when she could get up early enough, hiking across country when she felt particularly peppy and lying around in cool, still places when she wanted to be quiet—that she could do all this to the tune of twelve dollars a week? Just that has been done and is being done by thousands of girls (over 50,000 to be specific) this summer. The secret? Y. W. C. A. Summer Camps.

No longer is the fainting heroine and the delicate girl popular in the United States. It's the healthy, fresh-skinned, athletic girl with the "rouge" that won't come off" on her cheeks because it's "painted from the inside" that is ideal today and that is why the summer camps are popular. Every girl would rather have a natural bloom on her cheeks than the fifty-cent-a-box kind and she knows that the surest way to get it is by out-door living, wholesome food and lots of exercise. She knows too that this is the keenest sort of fun. So when summer comes and she has a week or two off from work, she chooses a camp for her vacation trip. She does that, is, if she is wise, and so many girls are growing "wise lately" that all the camps in the country have waiting lists and disappointed inquirers.

Y. W. C. A. camps are run, primarily for girls who work the year round in factories, shops, stores or offices and who have to cram into seven short days, enough fresh-air and sunshine, flower picking and hiking to last twelve months. In location, management, equipment and pure fun these camps are quite as surprisingly delightful as those run for the "Poor Little Rich Girls" at several hundred per.

Not one out of the lot of details features of camp life is the fact that the vacation girl can wear bloomers every day and all day, can swim along with freedom undreamed of in full-dress days. No man (unless he has taken ladies' parts in plays) can understand what a joy that is to a girl and no girl who hasn't stepped out of her bathrobe some short tight skirt or full catamining one can appreciate the delight either. On Sundays, perhaps, and guest days, skirts are donned but for the rest of the time—never!

Number two in the list is the easy chance for out-door sports. There are "play leaders" or athletic directors in all the camps and, planning with them, a councillor for every group of ten or twenty girls. Among them are baseball matches are arranged, or cross-country hikes, or bird-hunting trips (with field-glasses in lieu of guns); water sports are taught, water contests are planned; early morning bacon-bats, with woodfire, coffee-and-canned-cream, and all the usual accessories, are indulged in and moonlight marshmallow roasts or water-melon spears are staged. For the girl who wants to be quiet and lazy, there are such places as "Crows Nests" built high in the tree branches where reading or dreaming is the most natural sport to indulge in—or there's the sunny beach where a blanket spread on the sand makes the laziest sort of a "chaise longue". Or there are queer, lonely places along the river's edge which the romantic soul can discover and keep as his sanctuary.

And of course, a third joy is the simple life one lives sleeping in tents or cabins with a wooden box for a dressing table and one 8 inch mirror for five or six girls; no wardrobe space other than the suite case under the cot and no private bath except the tin basin and a stand. There's always a chance to pull your cot out into the open and sleep under the stars and on one really knows the stars, so Stevenson says, "who has not slept a la belle étoile". The food? One always expects good eats as a part of the camp game; perhaps, because one is so hungry that anything tastes good! But things are good when there's a special cook to prepare the food and the whole country-side to choose from in the matter of strawberries, cream, newly-made butter and green vegetables.

Three Y. W. C. A. camps opening this month in all parts of the country from the Pacific to the Atlantic Coast, accommodating over 50,000 girls during the season. In the New England States and New York, thirty-two camps give vacations to ten thousand girls; in Ohio and West Virginia seventeen camps accommodate over three thousand industrial girls; in the west certain camps draw most of the mining districts. The cost of a week's stay at these camps varies from $6 to $8 and with the usual carefare involved brings the total expense to ten or twelve dollars. There's not much in the way of fun, health and out-door medicine that you can get for twelve dollars these days!

Yet to sum up this is what the Y. W. C. A. Camps offer: Boating, bathing and swimming under trained instructors; tramps through beautiful secluded woods; picnics in the woods; bacon-bats, campfires by the lake; baseball, basketball and all kinds of games; auto trips; sleeping out parties. In unpleasant weather there are open fires in the halls, and a place where stunts, concerts, dramatics etc., are given. The trees and hills abound in birds and flowers and you can learn to know and enjoy them.
